HUNDREDS

Of Men Are Searching For the Murderer—Logan County People Wild

With Excitement Over Murder Of Miss Zoda Vick

At Russellville And Rewards Aggregating $1,000 Offered By County And State.

POSSEMEN AFTER SUSPECT.

Russellville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Logan county is wild with excitement over the murder of Miss Zoda Vick and tonight searching parties aggregating several hundred men are looking for a former employee of the Vick family, who is suspected of the crime. A posse went to the man's residence, about four miles from the scene of the crime to-day, but he could not be found. It was learned that his wife and two children were away from home on a visit. A search of the house revealed a pair of torn trousers spattered with blood.

The people in the neighborhood of the crime have been out en masse since the discovery of Miss Vick's body, and a most thorough search is being made for any bit of evidence that may lead to the detection of the criminal.

FALSE REPORT OF CAPTURE.

It was reported to-night that the man in question had been captured at Guthrie and would be brought here on the 9:18 train. Fully 200 armed men met the train. However, it was a false report. It was reported to-night that the former employee left Elkton on his way to Hopkinsville, and word was sent to the Chief of Police at that place by the Sheriff of Logan county to arrest him. Points in and around this place have also been notified.

One report has it that the man is back in the knolls where the crime was perpetrated. The supposition of the majority is that he has not left the country, and the possemen are confident of his capture inside of eighteen hours. If in the vicinity of the murder, there is no escape for him, while the name can be sold if he is in Todd or Christian counties, as all points are posted.

The man's brother is also under suspicion, but he has not been found. Several arrests have been made, but in each instance the suspect proved an alibi and was released.

GUARDING AGAINST MOB VIOLENCE.

It seems to be an assured fact that the murderer will be caught and every effort possible will be made to protect him. The members of Company M, State Guards, were notified by Capt. Bowden to hold themselves in readiness should any violence be attempted. The people are so wrought up that it is feared should the murderer be captured a clash will follow.

Adj. Gen. Murray will be down on the 11:15 a. m. train to look into matters, and every effort will be made to prevent a lynching in the event of capture.

A CITIZENS' MEETING.

An indignation meeting was held at the court house this morning to condemn the murder and steps were taken to capture the murderer. Speeches were made by Dr. Walter Byrnes and Dr. A. L. Butt, which thoroughly aroused the people. Geo.

FAILED TO LAND A CHECK.

Soulless Corporation Only Sends Back Verse for Verse.

A farmer in Ohio, whose hog had been killed by a train, and who no doubt felt that he was entitled to damages for the same, penned the following, which he enclosed in letter addressed to the general offices of the railroad company:

My razorback strolled down your track

A week ago today;

Your 29 came down the line.

And snuffed his light away.

You can't blame me—the hog you see,

Slipped through the cattle gate;

So kindly pen a check for ten

The debt to liquidate.

The old farmer without question miscalculated the mellowing effect of poetry on railroad corporations, as in a few days he received the following:

Old 29 came down the line

And killed your hog we know;

But razorbacks on railroad tracks

Quite often meet with wo.

Therefore, my friend, we can not send

The check for which you pine;

Just plant the dead; plant o'er his head,

"Here lies a foolish swine."

Keep It in Your Home.

And when the bowels fail to act properly, take a dose of LYON'S LAXATIVE SYRUP—it acts gently but effectively on the kidneys, liver and bowels; will keep your system in good working order and make your complexion clear.

WATSON SCORES THE DEMOCRATIC MACHINE.

To the Democrats of Kentucky:

Since so much has been said on the subject without authorization of mine, it seems proper that I should in some public manner declare that I shall not be a candidate for Governor of Kentucky.

When the suggestion was originally made I gave it entertainment and consideration. It was represented to me that if I consented I might rely upon substantial unanimity in the nominating convention, and, although I am too old a hand at the bellows to take stock in any such nonsense, I confess that the thought of uniting the party in a new departure on high, broad lines of public policy, lifting the State out of its former place at the head of the marching column of National Democracy, was not without its allurements to one who has always held office, and officialism in all its forms, in sincere aversion. There was special attraction in the idea of going out among the Democrats of Kentucky, and from one end of the State to the other proclaiming the doctrines of the fathers of Democracy as the sole hope of the future of the party; of meeting all comers face to face in the substantiation of truth, in the denunciation of falsehood, and in the defense of my own record, and by direct appeal, addressed to the good sense and good feeling, the higher nature and the loftier aspiration of the people, to win a vote of confidence after a life time of arduous, disinterested service. I did not doubt what their verdict would be after they had heard me, nor do I doubt this now.

I think I know the Democrats of Kentucky well. They are a cranky lot; but I am something of a crank myself. We have had our ups and downs. They will give me credit at least for padding my own canoe. Whether in the matter of 1896 they were right, or I was right, all of us paid the penalty. If they were right, they whipped me, and as on a certain occasion old Sam Houston observed, "they whipped me good." That ought to satisfy them. If I was right, and they whipped me wonderfully, heavens knows I forgive them.

Many things have happened since then. Many things are likely to happen before the end of the chapter. In my appointed sphere and place I shall endeavor to lead, as I have always led, with the fear of God before me; answerable at all times only to God and my own conscience.

Preferment is not for me. Brought to the point where I must look the situation full in the eye I am appalled at the conditions which the successful candidate must needs meet and overcome; the rogues and cheats he must court and cozen; the servility he must affect, or practice, the obligations incur; the personal solicitation, ignoble and humiliating, the use of money more or less corrupt and corrupting; for, though he have an overwhelming majority of the people at his back, there stands the machine, first to be captured and then to be employed, with all that this implies.

Although I have never had a machine I am not a stranger either to the character, or the efficacy of machine methods. Nor do I lack some points of vantage in case I wanted to construct a machine for my own purpose. But, no unclean dollar has ever passed my hand, either coming, or going, and I am too old to turn rascal. Sometimes, I have declared that I should like the people to write "Governor of Kentucky" on my tombstone. But I should ill rest in my grave if there were the suspicion of stain upon a letter of that honorable epithet.

It is known to those who know anything of my private affairs that I can fill no office requiring all of my time without a very serious diminution of income. Without counting the cost of a canvass, I could not exist four years in office at Frankfort except at an outlay of money greater than I feel that I can fairly subtract from the reasonable expectation of those who have natural claims upon me. Contemplated from afar, the hope of rendering the people, the party and the State, some service, a hope which became the more inspiring as it tasted of self-sacrifice, expelled from my estimate considerations of a more material kind. With the nearer approach of the time when a decision must be made, I am admonished not less by my business obligations than by judgment and wishes of my family to descend from the clouds and to bethink myself of these things; and doing this it seems little short of preposterous that I should proceed with a suggestion which has taken no form or body through any act of mine. In one word let me say that the apple tempted me; but I did not eat, and I shall not eat.

From many parts of the State and from some of the best men I have received assurances of friendly sympathy and support. I thank them one and all, and with all my heart. Nor am I without a certain sense of indebtedness to those enemies who by the fabrication of all sorts of pretensions on my part have sought to defame and injure me, but who have in reality much strengthened me with considerate people. In the long run, lying rarely hurts anybody except its authors. I stand upon my record, such as it is, and, profoundly grateful to my fellow citizens of every way of thinking for their confidence and favor, often in the face of serious differences of opinion—profoundly hopeful of the future of the party and the State—I shall continue to labor under my own roof till my race is run, a free man, a Kentuckian, and a Democrat. A Cure for Cholera Infantum

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwater, Ohio, "my infant child, or our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling him I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance. For sale by all druggists.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also evidence of kidney trouble; a convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and stinging pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., of Swamp-Root Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Men in Chicago Churches.

Profound astonishment and deep chagrin will be felt by Chicagoans over the statistics given the national Bible conference by an investigator of Chicago's religious state. The statistician, the Rev. Fred B. Smith, of New York, asserts that of the 12,000 in attendance at Chicago churches one Sunday morning 53 were men!

Now the disposition of the loyal Chicago layman when confronted by such a statement would be to leap immediately to his feet and to emit vigorous and sweeping denial.

But to one's increased astonishment, bewilderment and consternation, he finds that the clerical denial, which should be even more prompt and decisive than that of the layman, are strangely feeble and uncertain.

Thus, for example, one spiritual shepherd is moved to no more convincing a rejoinder than this: "Dr. Smith's figures do not seem"—do not seem—"to me to be correct. But I am not in a position to dispute them."

So far as I am able to tell, he may have visited churches at various times with the result he reported. (1) There are many Presbyterian churches, however, which are regularly attended by more than fifty-two men.

It is true Miss Jane Adams is optimistic enough to express doubt of Mr. Smith's figures, and ventures to assert that in many Catholic churches there are fifty-two men in each congregation. Likewise Father Dunne of the Church of the Guardian Angel does not hesitate to say that "there are many churches in Chicago that are attended every Sunday morning by many times fifty-two men."

Nevertheless the matter is left in a most disturbing state of uncertainty. If Mr. Smith is right it might conduce to some good end to publish the names of the fifty-two men.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter stated: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.

I have this day set my son, John Henry Briggs, and daughters, Allie and Marie Briggs free, to trade and make contracts for themselves, and will not hereafter be responsible for their conduct or contracts. This Aug. 23, 1902. GEO. BRIGGS, McHenry, Ky.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington County, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

A BIG ROUND-UP

Of Green Goods Swindlers Is Made in Newark.

New York, Aug. 25.—What is said to be the biggest round up of green-goods swindlers ever made by the Federal authorities in this city was announced to-day. Five men and a woman were taken into custody, and an entire green goods plant was captured. Four of the prisoners, Joseph R. Baker, Elmer Brown, S. Gottlieb and the latter's wife were arrested in Newark, and George Brown and Thos. Henry were arrested in this city.

According to Post Office Inspector, Michael Boyle, he has secured a complainant against the prisoners Antonio Capere, a butcher of New Haven Conn., who paid $300 in cash and received green paper in return.

Many complaints of green-goods victims have reached the post-office recently, and the alleged plant was located in Newark after much work.

Inspectors Cortelyou and Duray; of Philadelphia, and Bullman and McMillan, of Boston were brought to this city and set to work under the direction of the local inspectors. Yesterday the inspectors saw a man come to the house in the company of Elmer Brown, the alleged "steerer," and followed by Baker, who, it is said, was the "trailer." The pair entered the house, and later came out. The victim carried a miniature trunk about ten inches long and four wide. The "steerer" took the victim to an express office, where the little trunk which the victim thought contained $5,000 in bills printed from stolen Government plates, was shipped to New Haven. Then the inspectors placed the "steerer" and the "trailer" under arrest.

The victim said he had paid $300 for the supposed money, and was thunderstruck when the inspectors secured the trunk and showed him it contained nothing but slips of green paper cut the size of bills.

A few moments after Brown and Baker had been arrested the "plant" was raided and the Gottliebs were taken into custody. In the house all manner of green goods paraphernalia was found, circular letters, a dozen or more of the little trunks and piles of green paper. Henry and Brown were arrested at a livery. All the prisoners were arraigned and held in $2,500 bail each.

Henry L. Shattuck, of Shellsburg, Iowa, was cured of a stomach trouble with which he had been afflicted for years, by four boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He had previously tried many other remedies and a number of physicians without relief. For sale by all druggists.

PE-RU-NA NECESSARY TO THE HOME.

(Says Prof. Talford Smith, of Georgia.)

Prof. Talford Smith, Principal Silem High School, Silem, Ga., writes: "With much pleasure I recommend Peru-na to all who may be suffering with any trouble of the respiratory organs. I have been using it in my family for the past five or six years and find it to be almost a household necessity. Peru-na is truly a grand catarrh remedy and general tonic and will do all that is claimed for it by the manufacturers."

---PROF. TALFORD SMITH.

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane. It may be in the mucous membrane lining the eyes or the pelvic organs, throat, stomach, liver, bowels or kidneys.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located. Peru-na cures catarrh wherever located. Peru-na is an internal remedy; not a local application.

Catarrh is a systemic disease, not a local disease. If Peru-na will cure catarrh in one place it will cure it in any other place, because Peru-na is a systemic remedy. It reaches the disease through the circulation in each organ. It eradicates the disease by eradicating it from the system.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Circuit Judge.
We are authorized to announce W. T. OWEN, of Daviess county, as a candidate for Circuit Judge in the Sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

No new divorce suits have been filed since court adjourned Friday.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt is camping on the trail of the trusts. What are the Democrats going to do about it?

The first number of a new Republican paper will be issued at Leitchfield September 11. G. W. Stone will be the editor and manager.

EX-GOVERNOR Hoadley, of Ohio, died Tuesday. Governor Hoadley was one of the two Democratic Governors Ohio has had since the war.

We are hoping that Mr. Birkhead will develop, at least, enough strength to make the race for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge, interesting to outsiders.

MR. W. SCOTT MORRISON, one of the ablest lawyers at the Owensboro bar, is being urged by the leading Republicans of the district, to make the race for Circuit Judge.

The drowning of Miss O'Rear, daughter of Appellate Judge Ed C. O'Rear, was a very sad affair, and the family have the sympathy of the whole people of the State.

The suicide of the brute who outraged and then murdered Miss Zoda Vick, near Russellville, indicates the awful price the criminal must pay for his crime.

The unanimous support of Judge Guffy by the independent voters and newspapers of the district, illustrates the generous disposition of the people to adequately reward a faithful public servant.

BECAUSE the Republican press of Kentucky gave currency to Mr. Waterson's denunciation of the Democratic machine, the big editor gets angry and awares the Republicans of Pennsylvania have a machine, too. But why does he "cuss" the Kentucky Republicans about it?

ON account of the unfortunate drowning of Appellate Judge O'Rear's daughter, the injunction suit to restrain the Democratic committee of the Sixth Judicial District from holding a primary election on November 4, a regular election day; was not argued before Judge O'Rear Tuesday as was stated last week. Messrs. M. L. Heavrin and J. S. R. Wedding are in Frankfort and will argue the case before Judge O'Rear to-day.

COMMENTING upon the future of the National Democracy, the Owensboro Messenger says:

The Democratic party, to win, must put its hand to the plow. He has ever been to the future without forgetfulness of the past, for it is in the past that Democracy has resolved and inhibited the everlasting principles, which may be pushed aside for a time—but only for a time.

It is not clear just what these "everlasting principles" are, but Mr. Waterson interests us most in saying the Democracy is not forgetful of the past. It would, indeed, be interesting to have Mr. Waterson tell us what there is in the past of his party which he can refer with pride. In the two last National conventions of his party, the only two administrations it has given the country within the memory of the generation now living, have not been endorsed. In his claim for popular support for his party, will Mr. Waterson tell us what good thing it has done for the country in the last half century that would entitle it to favor with the people? In fact the Democratic party is long on promises and short on references to its record.

The directors of our new railroad company met Saturday night, at which some important matters were considered. The directors are now negotiating for the purchase of rails and rolling stock, and as soon as these negotiations are closed the work of grading the roadbed will begin. The directors believe they will be able to close the contract for rails and rolling stock by the middle of next week. At the meeting Saturday night Capt. S. K. Cox was elected a director of the company to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. T. L. Griffin.

AN ACT OF TYRANNY.

If Judge Miller decides to run for County Judge again, and, judging from his past record, he will likely be a candidate the rest of his life, all the negroes in the county should support him on account of the generous treatment he accorded Smith's negro concert troupe here Monday. This troupe had been in Hartford before, and many of our citizens were anxious to hear them again. But they were negroes, and Judge Miller, without right or authority of law, bluffed them into giving up the court house. The law clearly and explicitly makes the jailer custodian of the public buildings and makes him responsible for them, and the County Judge has no more authority over them than the Rajah of Afghanistan, and his conduct was an act of tyrannical usurpation for which he has distinguished himself since he undertook to discharge the duties of the office of County Judge. A number of white men, both Democrats and Republicans, urged the negroes to proceed upon the authority of the jailer, to use the court house for the show, but knowing the effect that a disputed right to use the house would have upon the attendance, they thought it best not to do so.

It is true, that at some former session of the Fiscal Court, Judge Miller had an order made forbidding the use of the court house for other than court purposes. The fact that the General Assembly had already regulated this matter by statute did not deter the Judge from legislating upon the subject, in fact it would not surprise those, familiar with his assumed authority if he were to ask the Fiscal Court to reduce the duty on pig iron or modify the recent treaty with Spain. But if the Fiscal Court really had authority to make the order referred to, a number of public entertainments have taken place in the court house since the order was made, and even this week negro minstrel troupe played a same engagement there since that mighty and famous order was entered.

Truly, the Democrats are friends to the negro but one day in the 365.

THE K. P. A.

The Kentucky Editors Have an Interesting Meeting at Owensboro.

And a Delightful Outing to the great Northern Lakes and the Border Land of the British Empire.

We arrived at Star Island about 1 o'clock and were taken immediately into the spacious dining room of the Star Island Hotel where we had an elegant dinner. After dinner the party indulged in such amusements as an island fifty yards square can afford, fishing, rowing, etc.

At 4 o'clock the editors, their wives and sweethearts boarded the steamer for the return trip to Mt. Clemens. But the writer, not feeling greatly in love with Mt. Clemens, decided to remain overnight on the island.

We stood on the docks and watched the steamer, freighted with our fellow journalists, until the smoke from her funnels grew hazy in the distance, then went to the boat house and kept and got a hook and line and "wums" and went fishing. We crossed a lagoon and walked some distance down a narrow levee, Uncle Sam's dredgeboats threw up long enough ago for large trees to grow upon it, and flung our hook into the clear green lake waters and waited. But the fish didn't come. Whether it was due to stale bait, imported from Canada, or to the odor of pennyrile, we can not determine, but they didn't bite.

Star Island is the most delightful place for a quiet rest we have ever seen. This island is in the midst of the beautiful St. Clair flats. Perhaps our readers will understand little of the term flats; anyway, we didn't until we saw them. How many square miles of these flats, we do not know, but viewed from Star Island they extended, for all one sees, to the ends of the earth. The flats are sub-lake plains, from one to a thousand acres in area, just a few inches below the surface of the lake, and out of which grows an aquatic rush.

After the departure of our party for Mt. Clemens, we went up into the observatory of the hotel, and with a glass, kindly furnished by a Kentuckian sojourning there, whose acquaintance we chanced to form, and at whose suggestion we went up for the observation, looked out upon the most beautiful picture of nature's drawing we have ever seen.

We saw in the distance emerald fields of rush, rush, everywhere green fields of rush, but nowhere, land raised to raise itself above the green bosom of the lake.

One whose life has not been spent on the road feels a peculiar sense of loneliness when alone among strangers and far from home. With us this feeling was intensified by the quietness and isolation of the island.

From this vantage point we saw a fleet of lake steamers, the like of which, tonnage considered, pass no other point on the waters of the globe. The channel of the St. Clair river, in its course through the flats, is freighted with more tonnage, in the navigable season, than passes between New York and Liverpool, or through the great Suez Canal. The shipping scene was not less interesting at night. Hundreds of thousands of tons of freight passed each hour in front of the little island, but so quiet, that, should we shut our eyes, we might easily conclude ourselves in the midst of some desolate desert or undiscovered wilderness. The short whistle signaling each steamer's course, was the only sound that reached our ears. A hundred of these great monsters of the lakes, with flickering lights fore and aft, carrying the commerce of a nation as silently as a mouse stealing across a velvet carpet, forms a night scene to be admired and remembered.

About 10 o'clock a large lake passenger steamer, freighted with a thousand Detroit excursionist returning from Port Huron, came rushing by. Her decks were busy scenes of gaiety, of laughter and song; and when just off the docks of our miniature island, the steamer's band struck up "My Old Kentucky Home." From an upper veranda of the hotel there came a cyclone of hand clapping, and we knew there were other Kentuckians on the island.

Sunday morning Mr. Dodd, our newly made Kentucky friend, and myself were up with the birds, and off to the boathouse for fishing tackle. Fishing is best in the early morning; in fact several fishing parties had left the hotel for the fishing grounds as early as 3 o'clock.

We secured a vantage point and the sport of landing black bass and the sabbath day began together. We told our friend we were glad we were not a little boy just then with mother present. This comment was suggested by a little fishing incident that occurred one Sunday morning about twenty five years ago, but Mr. Dodd soothed our conscience by explaining that as the island was small to build a church on, the sojourners up there turned fishermen on Sunday. We caught four nice black bass and they were still biting gamely when the whistle of the City of Detroit warned us that our time on Star Island was up. We took our leave of a few new friends, but pleasant friends, and boarded the beautiful steamer for a run of fifty miles to Detroit. Standing on the deck of the steamer we watched the little emerald isle fade into a shadow, resolving when we accumulated a fortune, as all newspaper men do, to visit it again.

The steamer had a party of Port Huron excursionists to Detroit, and we had the good fortune of the attention of a small party who made the trip a very pleasant one for us.

A number of the Press people had expressed a wish to encounter a storm on the lakes, but we were the only member of the party whose wish, in this respect, was gratified.

Sunday noon, while the steamer was approaching the western shore of Lake St. Clair, an inkly storm cloud rose rapidly up out of the western horizon and drew its nightlike curtain across the sky. It grew so dark the electric lights on the steamer were turned on. The more timid excursionists grew palely rushed into the cabins, but the writer, always charmed by unusual displays of nature's forces, remained on deck. We had faith in the great steamer being able to weather the storm, and was lost in admiration of a scene we had longed, since boyhood, to witness. The thunder roared like a mighty avalanche cleaving some rocky mountain side, and lightning sprang its sheeted flames in colors of blue and green and gold over the bosom of the clear green waters of the lake. Every detail of Knight's well-drawn story of a storm at sea came up before us like a canvas scene in a high-class theater. No where else can nature vent its wrath in storm with so free and easy hand as at sea.

We arrived at Detroit amid a drenching rain and took at once an electric car for Mt. Clemens to rejoin the Press party there.

Perhaps we have wearied, already, our readers with a recital of the incidents of our trip, but to us the outing has formed a memory picture we shall delight to look upon when age has laid its withered hand upon us.

Misses Jessie Tatum gave an entertainment Monday evening in honor of her cousin, Miss O'lie Nelson, of Russellville, Ky., who is present here as guest. The bill-wing ladies were in attendance and report it quite an enjoyable social: Misses Norma Brown, Gussie Woodward, Emma Morton, Eva Brown, Willie Eversley, Cecil Shacklett, Mabel Tichenor, Alba Eversley, Edith Tichenor, Nora Bennett and Mrs. Alvin Rowe. Music for the occasion was furnished by Messrs. Edgar Calvert, Clark Eversley, Orvis Tatum, Iris Kinder and Misses Mabel Tichenor, Cecil Shacklett and Gussie Woodward. There were a number of gentlemen present and each report quite a nice time.

MISS O'REAR DROWNED.

Was a Daughter of the Judge of the Court of Appeals.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 25.—Miss Mabel O'Rear, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Judge Ed C. O'Rear, of Frankfort, Ky., was drowned at 11 o'clock last night. She had been visiting Miss Stewart, at Fernbank, a short distance below Cincinnati, on the Ohio river. Both girls and O'Rear Mortashed were out on the river in a canoe when the waves of a steamboat upset the frail craft. Mortashed and Miss Stewart clung to the overturned boat, but Miss O'Rear was carried away and sank. The steamboat stood by and rescued Mortashed and Miss Stewart after they had been in the water a long time. Search for the body of Miss O'Rear was unavailing.

Urges an Investigation.

Gentlemen:—I received your letter of May 17th to-day and am only too glad to send you the names of 25 mothers who have children that will soon reach their second summer and teething age. I will say, no one can say more for Owens Pink Mixture than myself. I have 5 children, aged 6 years, 3 years, and 1 year old. I have used Owens Pink Mixture with every one of them and always with the best results. Ever since the late Chas. W. Williams, who was a member of your firm at Owensboro, Ky., sold me the first order in 1890, I have used it and always keep it in stock. Where once introduced it remains a family medicine. I am in hopes the Floyd Medicine Co. will be able to take in every drug store in America and every foreign land; not only that, but in every home, for it is a boon to our dear little ones and their faithful mothers. Now, if you please, send me some more advertising matter. I will use it to our mutual good. Very respectfully, Patterson's Pharmacy, per H. Smith Patterson.

DEFENDANT

In a Breach of Promise Suit at Sixty-Nine.

Mr. S. M. James, a wealthy merchant and post-master at Select, is, at the age of 69, defendant in a breach of promise suit brought by a girl of 20.

Mr. James was left a widower a few months ago, and believing that it was not good for man to be alone, set about procuring a wife to comfort his old age, but, if Miss Fannie Shields' petition be true, he went about the matter rashly.

Miss Shields' petition alleges that Mr. James' wife died on the — day of March, 1902, and that on the — day of August, 1902, Mr. James made divers and sundry protestations of love for her, and entreated her, then and there, to marry him, and yielding to his requests and wooing, did, on the date aforesaid, promise and agree to marry him, and it was agreed that Mr. James should come to her home on the 18th day of August and they would then and there agree up on an early date for the consummation of their vows of marriage, and that she has been at all times ready and willing to perform her part of the contract.

Plaintiff further alleged that the defendant failed to comply with the contract of marriage entered into with her, and that he, on the 25th day of August, 1902, married another woman, in consequence of which she has been wronged and humiliated, her feelings have been greatly lacerated, and she has suffered much mental pain and anguish to her great damage, and prays relief in the sum of $5,000.

The case will come on for hearing at the November term of the Ohio Circuit Court.

CUTTING AFFRAY.

The Stewarts and Fosters Engage in a Fray Near Horse Branch.

Thursday night of last week while returning from the regular weekly prayer meeting at Salem Church, near Horse Branch, Jim and John Stewart and Alex Foster and son, Chester, engaged in a scrap, and as a result of which Jim Stewart lies dangerously wounded, and the Fosters are under bond for their appearance to answer for the crime at the November term of court.

While returning home from prayer meeting at Salem Church Thursday night, Chester Foster approached Miss Mary Stewart and told her he was going home with her, but observing that Foster was drunk, Miss Stewart told him that he could not see her home. Foster, so our informant says, told her he was going away. At this juncture, Jim Stewart, a brother of Miss Mary's, approached Foster and asked him to defer attention to his sister until he got sober. This so enraged young Foster that he assaulted Foster with a knife. John Stewart came to the rescue of his brother and Chester Foster's father to his assistance, and a general melee ensued.

The parties to the fray are respectable, and, ordinarily, quiet citizens.

DEAD BODY

Of an Infant Found Hidden Under a Rock Near Rosine.

Proceedings of the Coroner's jury, taken in the Pike case at the residence of J. R. Trull, near Manda, Ohio county, Ky., August 25, 1902.

BEN L. DAVIS, Coroner.

First witness, J. R. Trull, states that he was at work in his tobacco patch by his barn on Monday morning, August 25, 1902, and that his dog commenced barking in a branch nearby and he went to see what the dog had found, and that upon an investigation found it to be the body of an infant child that had been hidden there, and that his daughter, Ophelia J. Pike, said it was her child, and that she put it there and placed some rocks around its body and a large rock over it to hide it; and further, that on August 24, 1902, being suspicious that Ophelia was pregnant, did ask Dr. — Holcroft, of Select, Ky., about this, and he said, "there's nothing like that, you need not be uneasy; her sickness is due to lifting and overwork." And that he and his son, Virgil Trull, moved the child from among the rocks and put it in a small box, which they had placed on the large rock.

Second witness, Virgil Trull, states that he saw the body of this same infant in the branch where his father had found it under the large rock on the 25th day of August, 1902, and he and his father, J. R. Trull, did take the body from under the large rock and put it in a small box and his sister, Ophelia J. Pike, said it was her child, and that he, together with Mr. J. H. D. Balze, moved the body from the branch to a nearby barn to a shade, and to await the arrival of the Coroner.

Third witness, J. H. D. Balze, states that he saw this body lying in a small box on a large rock in the branch as stated by first and second witnesses. He suggested that it be moved to a nearby barn, as above stated.

Fourth witness, Mrs. Margaret Balze, states that she first saw the body of the child here in the barn to-day where this inquest is being held; and that Ophelia J. Pike told her that this was her child and that it was born out there in the branch, where it was hid away Sunday, August 25, 1902, and that she put some small rocks around the child and a large rock over it, but did not commit any violent act upon its body; and, further, that Dr. — Holcroft was called to see Ophelia J. Pike on August 24, 1902, and requested that she and Ophelia's mother leave the room, which they did, and he closed the door and I said it will be dark in the room and the Doctor said he didn't care how dark it was, and the Doctor and Ophelia were the only persons in the room for some time, when the Doctor called for Ophelia's mother to come in, and she and I went into the room and found the Doctor washing his hands and he said Ophelia's sickness was due to lifting or overwork.

Fifth witness, Mrs. Ollie Trull, states that she has not seen the body of the child yet, and that Ophelia J. Pike told her that she had done wrong; and that she got up Sunday morning, August 24, 1902, to get breakfast and found Ophelia J. Pike sitting on the doorstep outside the house and that she went away from the house and when she came back to the house that her dress was all drabbed up or wet with dew.

Sixth witness, Ophelia J. Pike, states that she is the mother of this child and that it was born early on Sunday morning, about sun up, August the 25th, 1902, out there at the branch where it was hid away, and that there was no one present, she being there alone and that the child was dead, and that she put some rocks around it and over it, because she hated to bring it to the house, and Dr. Holcroft came, she told him what had happened and the Doctor said that was alright; he would care for it, and that he examined her and that he took the afterbirth, placenta, from her and that she don't know what he did with it, that she never saw this Doctor until last fall.

We, the jury, do find upon an investigation that the body of an infant child was found hid in a branch or outway place on the premises of J. R. Trull, near Manda, Ohio county, Ky., on the 25th day of August, 1902, and find that said child was concealed in the outway place by Ophelia J. Pike; that we are unable to ascertain whether it was dead or alive at birth, except from evidence of Ophelia J. Pike. There were some marks of violence on its body, but we are unable to find the party; whereof witnesses, this August 25, 1902.
